

Set cardinality

A set A is called finite if it has n distinct elements, where $n \in \mathbb{N}$. In this case n is called the cardinality of set A and is denoted by $|A|$.

A set that is not finite is called infinite.